The "Sock Social."

The "Sock Social," given by the ladies of the Presbyterian church last Friday night in the Kindergarten rooms, on Fort King avenue, was a grand success. The entire house was crowded the whole evening. The house was beautifully decorated, and in each room was something interesting and attractive. In one room was the ten-cent counter. By nine o'clock every article in this room had been disposed of.

A delightful musical program, consisting of music by Prof. Pike, Prof. Van Way and Mr. Hulise, songs by Mrs. C. H. Breedlove, Misses Lena Bullock and Sara Whitfield, and instrumental music by Mrs. E. L. Carney was rendered in the back room.

One of the most interesting and unique features of the evening was the "goo goo eyes" contest. A sheet was stretched across the room, behind which stood eight young ladies. Small holes were cut in the sheet through which only the eyes of the young ladies could be seen. For guessing the greatest number of the eyes Misses Claude Waterman and Lera Bullock and Messrs. John Taylor and Ernest Crook won the prizes.

The up-stairs was used for the dining room, and there delicious refreshments were served.

About one hundred and thirty dollars were turned into the treasury as a result of this entertainment.

To all who so faithfully helped to make the evening a success the ladies of the church extend their most sincere thanks.

I congratulate the manufacturers of an honest medicine." For sale by the Anti-Monopoly Drug Store. M Y., "but when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Notice.

To organize and equip a business and then neglect to let the public know about it is short sighted. We don't want local puff or any sort of hired flattery. We run regular advertisements in all the papers located in the banking territory tributary to Ocala, and the wording is changed very often. The special object of this notice is to ask you, whenever you open your paper, to look for our advertisement and see its new features. MUNROE & CHAMBLISS, Bankers.
